JAMES D. WALKER, Møvager.
Victoria, September 12, 1852. FROM THE VICTORIA A. F MAIN, Coach & Wagon Land Agent,

> A Merry Christmas, one and all, And a happy good New Year; Long live the pleasures of the past, Let its sorrows disappear. We warmly thank our numerous friends-In the neighboring state and here, For the many favors we've received Through the waning good old year. We trust old friends may still remain, While many new draw nezr; And witness in our humble way, How we'll pl-ase them through next year. We'll greet their aid with generous pride, And a hearty right good cheer; And welcome the public, one and all, To our services through the year.

So come along—be not dismayed, Our terms are not severe; A moderate charge and better work, Our motto in th' ensuing year.

We would not harm th' opposing trade, Nor give it cause to fear; But gladly move in peace with all Throughout the next New Year.

Now, one word more before we part:
We'll shoe your horse or mend your cart,
Repair your wagon to a fraction,
And guarantee good satisfaction;
Fit up your Buggies, Sulkies, Busses,
Renew your Phactons, Barouches, Coaches;
Steel a Pick or sharp a Drill,
Shoe an ox oriron a mill.
Fit out a Truck, repair a Dray,
And never turn the poor away,
But make their treubles disappear
And relieve their wants through the next long year,

Book and Job Printing of every description acatly executed. Terms, cash on delivery of the CHARTERED BANKS. The position of Chartered Banks with regard to the issue of a paper currency, and with regard to the particular privileges which they enjoy over private banks, appear to be somewhat misunderstood. It is certainly incorrect to say that they are beyond the reach of Colonial law, and it is also incorrect to say, so far as Chartered Banks are concerned, that we are not bound by any of the acts which affect other parts of Her Majesty's dominions. Chartered Banks carry their own powers with them to a certain extent, and acting under a Royal Charter, have certain privileges conferred on them which they carry with them into all British possessview of the Bill now before the House of Assembly, it may not be uninteresting to go more closely than we have hitherto done into their constitution.

Chartered Banks are all subject to the laws which govern banking in the Colony or Colonies, where such banks operate.

The great security of Chartered Banks, whether acting under Royal Charter, or a Charter granted by a Colonial Legislature, is 1st. That such banks cannot begin operations till all their subscribed capital has been taken up; and untill a certificate has been received from the Lords of the Treasury, in the case of Royal Chartered Banks, that a certain proportion of their proposed capital has actually been paid up. 2d. Chartered Banks are prohibited from advancing on their own shares; from making direct advances upon landed property; or from holding more landed property than is necessary for conducting their business, and thereby locking up their capital in unnegotiable securities. 3d. That every branch of such banks is under the control of a court of directors, who are answerable to the shareholders, a certain number of whom can call a meeting of the proprietors of the bank to enquire Into any seeming abuse. 4th. That a certain number of directors generally retire each year, their places being filled by the vote of the shareholders. 5th. That such banks are compelled to submit half yearly—in the case of Royal Chartered Banks, to the secretary of state for the colonies and her Majesty's treasury, and in that of banks holding colonial charters. to the proper local authorities-authenticated statements showing the assets and liabilities. the amount of notes in circulation, and coin on hand, at all the establisaments of such banks, which statement must be signed by two directors, and the principal officer of the bank. And that if required, the books and re-turns from which such statements are compiled shall be open to the inspection of any officer appointed by Government to examine them, 6th. I hat two auditors, not being directors or otherwise officially connected with the bank, shall at all times have authority to in spect the books and other documents belong ing to the bank, and verify and sign all bale sheets submitted to the shareholders That such auditors are generally elected yearly, and receive a regular salary. 7th. That all chartered banks are restricted in the total amount of their note issue, and that a certain proportion of coin must be kept on hand to meet the notes in actual circulation, such being verified by the half-yearly statements, or by the inspection of such officers as may be appointed by Government. It would surely then be impolitic to interfere so as to restrict the issue of notes by chartered banks within limits which would render their working incomplete and unprofitable; rather should we see every bank authorized to issue paper bound by the 7th restriction given above, and the statements of all made subject to the inspection of a government officer, than see any other legislative interference. great object of the Legislature must be to give a good system of currency to the colony, and it banks which are so well restricted by their charter, and whose interest it is to keep the note circulation of these colonies in a state of purity, are to be confined in their issue to the average of the last three months, the whole thing would become a farce. The principle of a paper issue in these colonies is still in its infancy, and the value of the notes issued by our banks has hitherto been a mere bagatelle when compared with their capital and coin reserve. That issue was probably at its highest during lastsummer and must have been growing small by degrees till the average of the last three months would be very small indeed, and far below the correct average of the year. The result of any under restriction of a legitimate note is sue, especially in these colonies, where it costs so much to maintain a metallic currency, must result in restricted banking accommodation, and at the same time depreciate the price of gold dust on the mines in the same ratio as the difference between the cost of buying with notes and buying with imported gold coin, a difference which has been calculated at "filteen per cent.!" This is surely not an end for our legis-lature to aim at in framing banking laws.

JAPANESE AFFAIRS. The destruction of Kagosima seems to have created a vast amount of virtuous in dignation amongst the liberal party in England, and the feeling, if we may judge of it by the tone of the majority of the London papers, seems to have extended somewha beyond the "peace at any price" party. Mr. Cobden, in a letter to one of his constituents deprecates very strongly the course taken by Admiral Kuper, and a leading journal somewhat ministerial in its tendencies says that the officials in Japan though right as regards the batteries, and justified by Earl Rus. sell's orders as to the palace, have as regards the city, exceeded their instructions and inflicted on the reputation of Great Britain a grievous wrong, and on a perusal of the despatches we cannot say that such language is not justified. The British nation are not naturally inclined to cruelty, and have always been prone to sit in judgment upon other nations for excesses committed in war, and within a very short time have spoken out in terms of condemnation of the French, the Russians, the Americaus, and the Turks for acts of the very same nature as that committed by the British Admiral at Japan. The storming of Puebla, the sacking of a Polish palace by Gen. Berg, because a bomb had been thrown at his head, the throwing of shells filled with molten metal into Charleston, and the bombardment of Belgrade by the Turks: to average an assassination, have all been denounced as wholly unjustifiable and unpardounble atrocities. And yet the destruction of Kagosina seems to have been an act of the same nature. The perusal of the destruction of the town was either inter-tional and carried out as the easiest and most complete method of punishing Japanese insolence in firing upon a British squadron, or was one of these accidents which those who produce them do not even affect to regret. It seems quite clear that the destruction of the city was contemplated before it occurred, for during his interview with the native envoys who had assured him that the Prince of Satsums, the individual for whose misdeeds the Russians, the Americans, and the Turks for

For the sake of the interests of humanity and civilization, the destruction of a peaceful city, which carries with it the temporary extinction of the commercial sources of wealth of a whole province, cannot be too! strongly deprecated, but when we consider how advantageously an extensive trade might be carried on with Japan as well by England as by many of her colonies, it is an additional cause of regret that this hasty action should have occurred to retard the progress of our intercourse with these wealthy and enterprising Asiaties. The influence which Great Britain has always exercised by her steady advocacy of the claims of human beings to be exempt from causeless slaughter, will it is to be feared where the catastrophe of Kagosima is known, be as utterly destroyed, as humanity, always the interest of England, has in this case been disregarded. Chamber of Commerce.—This body held its usual monthly meeting yesterday. The only matter of public interest under discussion was upon the subject treated ot in our loader of to-day. We regret that our views upon this important question, (which have been unavoidably held over, as from what londer of to-day. We regret that our views upon this important question, (which have been in type since Saturday last) should have been unavoidably held over, as from what we can understand, the opinions expressed by the Chamber, were in nuison with ours. However, the matter will now receive the attention it merits, us a committee was named to frame an act for submission to the Legisplature.

OUTSIDE .-- A large full-rigged ship, with a long black hull, was seen off the Straits by the Architect and the Alberni. The Architect spoke her on Saturday night, out could not catch the name, though Capt. but could not exten the mane, inough capt. Hose made out that it was a double name. Capt. Anderson, of the Alberni, says she was an English ship resembling the Lockett, but he does not think it was her. It was probably the Napoleon III., now overdue.

High Legal Authority declares its validity! In common with the great majority of thinking, common-sense men in this commuladies. It is always a difficult and a delicate nity, we have all along maintained the perfeet legality of the city corporation, and of the Mayor and Council. Indeed with the exception of a well-known writer in a mornrecompense, save the hope of winning here ing journal, and the few whom his sophisms ave in some measure blinded to the plain undeniable facts of the case, there has and can have been but one opinion on the matter, among those who have devoted even the ter, among those who have devoted even the most curosory attention to the question. And now that we place before them the opinion of one of the most able counsel in the city, pronouncing in most unqualified terms in favor of the validity of the Incorporation Act, we cannot imagine that even these few will for one moment. place beside this weighty opinion the mere mosupported ipse dirit of a writer whose antecedents forbid that he should be possessed of sufficient legal lore to huzard more than a conjecture on a question of such

VICTORIA, Jan. 11, 1864. QUESTIONS.

Two questions are proposed.

1. Is there a Corporation for the City of

2. Is there a Mayor and Council? OPINION.

I think the "Victoria Incorporation Act, I think the "Victoria Incorporation Act, 1862," did establish a Corporation for the City of Victoria, and that there is a Mayor and Council; assuming, as of course I do, that the requirements of the statutes as to their election, have been complied with. I do not see how any doubt can be entertained on these points.

In construing the Act, the usual rule must be applied: "To give an effect to every clause, section, and word, if an effect can be given to it." Duarris on Statutes, p. 574.

Now, assuming that there could be any doubt as to the meaning of the word "incor-character admirably, and threw life into it, of the state lature in the Victoria. Incorporation De-benture Act, 1863," and by the "Provisional Act for the Election of Mayor and Council-lors, 1863, but I do not think it at all neces-

He had lately put in one of the largest sized "circulars," and was building a railway for drawing up ships, an enterprise much needed in those waters. His death will be much in those waters. His death will be much felt by the mercantile community in that vicinity. He leaves a wife and three young children, who are at present visiting it. New Hampshire, U. Mr. Duncan said that he had found that his notice of a motion requesting His Excel lency to appoint commissioners to collect certain taxes, &c., was not properly drawn up, and therefore he would sik leave of the House to withdraw it. Leave granted. BREACH OF PRIVILEGE.

Col. Foster said that he must call the at-tention of the House to a breach of the privileges of the House. He was aware that date in the present day, but as reports had been published in a cortain paper that were incorrect, he thought that it should not be allowed to pass unnoticed. He did not be allowed to pass unnoticed. He did not lay any stress on casual mistakes, but he would ask this House whether the reports should be allowed to be intentionally falsified and given forth to the world as truthful. The "OLDNIST of the 9th ult, published reports of the proceedings of this House that were totally incorrect, and this was coupled with a general tone throughout the paper holding up the hon, members who had voted against the Legalization Bill, to the edification of one hon, gentleman. This was a matter that concerned the whole House, and he thought it incumbent son some member to take up the matter. He thought no paper had a right to tax loyal and gentlemanly members with improper conduct, and he demembers with improper conduct, and he de-nied the right of any hon, member to make such unfounded accusations against his col-leagues and to attribute to them improper motives. The hon member proceeded to in-timate that the second member for Victoria had made use of the Colonist to make falso

House.

Mr. DeCosmos—Mr. Speaker, I must call the hon, gentleman to order.

The Speaker.—I am only waiting to hear the peculiar case the hon, member has alluded to. [Laughter.]

Col. Foster.—I am alluding to the miscape of the 9th representation made in this paper of the 9th inst., (holding up a Colonist of that date.) He found in this paper that Dr. Tolmie was made to second a motion incorrectly, and also other incorrect statements and allusions n reference to what had been said by hon ambers in the House members in the House.

Mr. DeCosmos said the hon, member for Esquimalt had charged him with causing incorrect reports to be made.

Mr. Duncan rose to a question of order.

The Speaker.—The hon, gentleman is quite in order; it is a question of privilege.

Mr. DeCosmos,—The whole of the hon, member for Esquimalt's accusation dwindles down to a trivial mistake of Dr. Tolmie's meritoriously dealt with. Frederick made good dutiful son, and an excellent husband; we have confidence in Fred, but he must not be in too great a hurry to proceed with his dialogue, particularly during laughter or applause. Amateurs lose many good points by not pay-life friend Toby Twinkle was quite himself, and kept the audience highly amused by his well timed comicalities, Toby never allows a joke to be lost, but makes the most of everything. Sir Arthar Lassell looked a leefle too nervous and discontented for the deep plotting hypocritical secondrel whom he was supposed to be embodying, but we can let that pass it lives his frest appearance on any boards' she were allows a consolited Mr. Mr. DeCosmos said the hoo, member for Esquimath had charged him with causing in-borned with any still be entertained by any citizen who has "come bis reason."

In pass it with a the vote of the bis reason. The whole of the home member for Esquimath had charged him with causing in-borned will be centertained by any citizen who has "come bis reason."

Enorm British Colonist. Sir—Having timed comicalities, Toby never allows a local legally sit as a member of the Victoria city Council, I have deemed it prudent to ask the opinion of Counsel on the matter, and accordingly. I have consulted Mr. McCreight, whose written opinion in the deem control of the c at the vote on this bill as reported by the COLONIST, any one could see that Dr. Tol-mie's name was correctly placed as a supporter of the bill; the mistake was, he had no doubt, simply a proof reader's, and unworthy a moment's attention. Doubtless the press were quite capable of defending themselves in this matter; but the hou, gentleman had made a cloak of this affair to insinuate unfounded charges against him (Mr. DeCosmos.)

House was now satisfied on this matter they would proceed to business.

HARBOR DEFENCES.

The House went into committee of the whole on the defences. whole on the defences.
Dr. Tolmie said he thought it very necessary to have the harbors of Exquimalt and Victoria put in a proper state of defence, also a few obstructives in the shape of Armstrong guns to defend our coasts. This measure was the more necessary now, on account of the great changes on this continent. The Americans were fortifying their coasts in all directions—at Canada, at San Francisco. all directions-at Canada, at San Francisco, nd spending $40,000 at the mouth of Cobe applied: To give a fined to every clause, section, and word, if an effect can be given to it. The Act in clear language directs that there shall be a Mayor and Council elected in a certain manner, with cortain powers and duties attached to their offices when elected. All that is required of these gentlemen, is to perform their duties accordingly, and not to exceed their powers.

Mr. DeCosmos believed, with Mr. Duncan, in flour mills, and also lumber mills (laughter), but he would be also very glad to see, as happily remarked by the honorable member for Victoria district, a few obstructives, but of a different kind from those lately exhibited in the House. He also wanted an ironelad Monitor and a regiment of the line (hear, hear). He thought the main protection were to have some defence in case of war; he did to have some defence in case of war; he did not think our poverty would be a very sure defence. He had nothing further to say on the subject; he could not pass over, however, these repeated personalities introduced in debate to-day; he objected to be styled as an "obstructive." Some honorable members could not speak of Armstrong guns without alluding as "obstructives" to those who differed from them in this House. As to the bill just rejected by the House, he had voted on it according to his conscience. on it according to his conscience.

Mr. Young would be most happy to support the hon, member for Victoria district in port the hon, member for Victoria district in this matter. It was necessary, however, to go somewhat farther than the hon, member had done; it must be considered either in committee of the whole, or in a select committee. He would say that the Imperiat government had some idea of defending this colony some years ago, as they had instructed Sir Thos. Maitland to land some cannon here, and he had landed two 63-pounders, but unfortunately no carriages, so there the gualie to this day without either carriages, powder or shot. (Laughter.) In answer to a former movement as to yolunteers, 1,000 rifes former movement as to volunteers, 1,000 rifles had been sent out here by the home government, but he was sorry to say they had not been in the hands of any one as yet. Mr. Ridge said it appeared to him that we wanted protection in case of need and the time for making defences was long before they were actually wanted. He thought it was a duty that the Home Government should defend us at their own cot; at our own cost it was a very different thing. The hom gentleman advocated a volunteer movement. We could get up a magnificent company here now, and defend ourselves on land at least. Dr. Tolmic's motion was then put.

He is a son of Gov. Gaines, of Alabama. He said in the presence of several officers that had it not been for the U. S. steamer Niphon, he would have succeeded in getting into Wilmington. The captain of the James Adger, as he was second officer present, ordered the Niphon to shell the beach to the southward, and toward the wrecks of the steamers Hebe, Douro and Venice, to prevent the rebels from bringing up their artillery and sharpshooters, which was done. Certainly there seems abundant ground to sustain his decision without straining the Act for the purpose of making nonsense of it.

> NEW ZEALAND.—A private letter from Auckland, dated the 2d of August, describes Auckland, dated the 2d of August, describes the present state of matters there. The writer says that, as all communication is out off with the interior, it is doubtful how the Europeans in the native districts are situated. Many of them, it is believed in Aucland, will be murdered before they can get to the settled districts. All the mule population, from 16 to 40 years of age, are under arms, and wacking either at gorrison duty or in page will be midiated before they can give to the settled districts. All the male population, from 16 to 40 years of age, are under arms, and working either at garrison duty or in patrolling the suburb at night to prevent a surprise on the town. The town was left in charge of the millilia and part of the volunteers. The writer considered himself fortunate in being detailed for night watch in and about town, so that he had got some time to look after business, and could also get his usual housework done—that is to say, cut firewood and fetch water. He got up before daylight to do this, and then went as soon as it was light to harracks for morning muster. When on night duty he came off at daylight, and as soon as he got home he got his wood and water for the day's use. His wife's brother had been obliged to abandon his farm, which is close to two others where the murdess took place. Like most of the up-country settlers, he will be nearly ruined, as he has had to leave his cattle and sheep behind rather than risk be ing shot. The natives had sentyword that they would murder eld and young when they attacked Auckland, and in consequence all the women were in great alarm. The outbreak he attributes to the missionary party, and says the Bishop was still at the head of the Mauri sympathisers. The missionaries, however, this time, as well as sottlers, had been obliged to run and leave their homes to the mercy of their converts, and well, he says, they merited the punishment, as on them rests the whole blame of the insurrection. Of all the impostors the missionaries, he adds, are the worst, and as long as the mauditin public will find funds to keep them in a life of laziness they will tell any amount of lies to gull them. of lies to gull them.
